5. Proclamations/Presentations

1. In The Matter Of Presenting The BOCC With The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Culture Of Health Prize Plaque. - Jennifer Little/Healthy Klamath Coalition

Background: In 2017 the journey began as Healthy Klamath Coalition applied for the RWJF Culture of Health Prize. In 2018, after a three phase application process, Klamath County was selected as a RWJF Culture of Health Prize winner. From an applicant pool of over 200, Klamath County was one of only four winners nationwide. The Prize honors communities for its unwavering efforts to ensure all residents have the opportunity to live healthier lives. We are no longer “Klamath County, bottom of the health rankings” but rather “Klamath County, Culture of Health Prize winner.” To become a Culture of Health Prize winner, Klamath County had to demonstrate excellence in the following six categories:

- Defining health in the broadest possible terms.
- Committing to sustainable systems changes and policy oriented long-term solutions.
- Creating conditions that give everyone a fair and just opportunity to reach their best possible health.
- Harnessing the collective power of leaders, partners, and community members.
- Securing and making the most of available resources.
- Measuring and sharing progress and results.

In addition to national recognition, Klamath County also received a $25,000 prize. Healthy Klamath partners decided to invest that prize money back into the community to continue our health improvement journey. Winners had to demonstrate how they too met the six prize criteria. The funding was split among six local agencies including Youth Rising, Citizens for Safe Schools, Just Talk Suicide, Klamath Basin Senior Citizens' Center, Klamath Falls Farmer's Market, and Klamath Union High School's Culinary Program.

We hope to hang the RWJF Culture of Health Prize plaque in the Government Center so all who enter will know that this is a high caliber community with national recognition.
